

The fE Monthly

Volume 1, Issue 1

June 1, 2008

Frenchman Subdued, Suspect At Large

By Chad Oh, Associated Press Writer

QUEBEC, Canada- A young boy by the name DoomedKnight was found severely injured in his Canadian home early yesterday. The discovery was made after a call to the local police department by a neighbor.

"Well, I hadn't seen him around for a few days, and... when I took a peek in the window... the place was a mess."

Once inside, police found the boy scratched, his face in the toilet seat. Several hundred of his pets were also found slaughtered throughout the house. He was sent immediately to the county hospital in critical condition, but is expected to make a full recovery.

(Up to date picture of the suspect, est. Jan. 2008)

A statement from the local police department's Sergeant Malloy exclaims "Although evidence is few at this time, we believe the perpetrator to be a Ms. Mademoiselle; a resident of the victim. It is believed that she is armed, and extremely dangerous. Any information leading to the capture of this suspect... is of the utmost importance."

Penis Cult Dispersed, Leader Assassinated

By Jason Sux, Associated Press Writer

CORPUS CHRISTI, U.S.A.- Earlier this morning, police raided a complex where a cult leader only known as Derailer runs a private operation amongst the women of Corpus Christi Texas. Once inside, they were pelted with old issues of Hustler Magazines and used condoms. Several officers received major and minor injuries, including a broken shoulder, a mild concussion and various forms of Cooties.

(picture of the perpatrater and his followers)

Once subdued, the women began screaming obscure phrases such as: "Long live the Dango!" and "Whoopachang!" as they were dragged out in droves. Although the current number is unknown, they are assumed to be numbering in the hundreds.

The leader, DeraiLer, had barricaded himself behind an enormous stack of porn that was too thick for police to penetrate. Finally, one officer accidentally bumped the stack of magazines and tapes, causing it to collapse, presumably crushing the cult leader to death. His body has yet to be excavated by forensics.

New Virus Strain Found, Highly Contagious

By Jean Claude DeRaiLieur, Associated Press Writer

(the culprit, as seen in the date above)

NEW YORK CITY, U.S.A.- Violating strict U.N. Orders, Notorious FE member Thing left his home of Iceland and visited a small village in Tibet. Weeks later, the entire village was wiped out by a venereal disease Thing possesses only known as "The Burning Winky." The whereabouts of the man-where are unknown at this time, and he is still presumed to be at large. It is stressed that if found, please, do not approach or fondle his genitalia. Contact the police immediately.

Home Wrecker Arrested, Shia Single

By Jean Claude DeRaiLieur, Associated Press Writer

VANCOUVER, Canada- Another shocking High School teacher has been arrested for having sex with her student.

Witnesses reported Trigonomics Professor Milo la Rue as having slept with pothead student and douche-galore, Metalwayz, during the school dance Friday night.

While being dragged out of the building, the teacher was screaming "Shia! Shia I love you, Shia!!" Police then tasered the hysterical woman and proceeded to arrest her. Metalwayz promised to work extra hours at the hair salon to make her bail.

Where In The World Is Dorkus?

By Chad Oh, Associated Press Writer

Now, it's time for an article that should be near and dear to all of our hearts, the loss one of FE's most cuddly members: Dorkus. Hailing from Britain, he has left us for a better place... but where, you might ask? Here at The FE Monthly, we are making it our goal to track down sightings of our beloved, wherever he may roam.

This issue's sighting? In space! Where all good things horror go!

The Funnies!

By Jason Sux

Of course, guys and gals! What epic newspaper wouldn't be complete without it's own section of the funnies? Every issue will come complete with its own set of comics, brought to you by the resident FE Artist.

This week's comic strip is brought to you by the brains of the Frenchies Crash Dummie and Jean Claude DeRailieur!

